Blue Valley North principal to retire at the end of the school year

Blue Valley North (BVN) principal Carter Burns announced he will be retiring from his position as principal at the end of the 2009-10 school year. Burns has been principal at BVN since 2005.

“I believe Blue Valley North is one of the best schools in the state and this staff and community have been instrumental in all our school’s accomplishments,” Burns said. “Thank you for your support during the past years.”

Burns has been in education for 39 years.

“We want to thank Dr. Burns for his dedication to Blue Valley North and all that he has accomplished during his time in Blue Valley,” said Tom Trigg, superintendent.
