Blue Valley Television students excel at national competition

Blue Valley Television (BVTV) students experienced great success at the National Student Television Network's annual conference in Orlando, Fla. More than 1,200 students from around the country competed in this year's conference in a variety of broadcast journalism events.

BVTV student intern and Blue Valley West senior Farzin Vousoughian placed first in the Live Reporter competition. In that competition, students were given a breaking news scenario. They were required to provide an introduction to the story, interview an eye witness and answer questions from the anchor.

BVTV students also placed third in the Sweet 16 competition. In the Sweet 16 competition, student news teams are given 16 hours to produce a news show.

"I am so proud of our students for their hard work and commitment to producing high quality work," said Bruce McRoberts, BVTV instructor.
